

*When it comes to cancer treatment...
Where you live should not impact if you live.*

Many of us have selected northern Arkansas as our home because of family ties, the beautiful outdoor setting and the peaceful lifestyle. In the past, living in our rural community was an obstacle for those dealing with cancer. Fortunately, thanks to the Claude Parrish Cancer Center (CPCC), that is no longer the case. When patients need cancer treatment, they are no longer required to travel outside our market to receive quality care – the care they need is right here at home.

North Arkansas Regional Medical Center's Claude Parrish Cancer Center opened in June 1990, and since that time, they have quietly helped thousands of patients and their families face cancer diagnoses with medical treatments and human compassion.

Currently all cancers are treated at CPCC, but the most common cancers treated include lung, breast, colon, prostate and lymphoma. We must continue to expand and advance our services as cancer treatment options evolve. Specifically, we would like to expand the infusion/chemo treatment room, as well as purchase new equipment and planning software.

With this letter, the ParRTI Board, which supports the work done at CPCC, is launching our first fundraising effort specifically designed to purchase equipment and software on behalf of CPCC. Each ParRTI board member has already made a pledge to CPCC, and we hope you will do the same.

You have our commitment that we will be extremely frugal with the funds raised and monitor all expenditures. To that end, you have the opportunity to select where you would like your funds to go, in addition to the opportunity of making a donation in honor or in memory of someone that has been impacted by cancer.

We hope you will print and complete the giving page and support our effort of sharing the message that where you live does not impact if you live. If you have a question about this project, please feel free to contact any of the board members listed below.
